

Brian Reilly – Law Enforcement Instructor

Brian Reilly has dedicated over a decade to shaping the future of law enforcement through his passion for teaching. Beginning his teaching career in 2010 at the New Haven Police Academy, Brian brought with him extensive practical experience as a full-time Police Detective. His dual role allowed him to blend real-world scenarios with academic instruction, offering cadets a dynamic and impactful learning experience.

During his tenure at the West Haven Police Department, Brian served with distinction, specializing in various aspects of law enforcement, particularly in criminal investigation. His hands-on experience in the field added immense value to his teaching, where he emphasized not only technical skills but also the importance of ethics, procedural accuracy, and critical decision-making. After retiring from the West Haven Police Department in October 2018, Brian transitioned to full-time teaching, bringing his wealth of knowledge and field expertise to a broader range of students at the Connecticut Police Academy.

Brian's teaching approach is marked by tenacity, creativity, and dedication. He is known for his ability to connect complex legal concepts with practical application, making him a highly sought-after instructor. He is committed to fostering critical thinking and ethical judgment in his students, ensuring they are not only well-prepared for the technical challenges of the job but also understand the profound responsibility that comes with wearing the badge.

At the Connecticut Police Academy, Brian currently teaches an array of courses, each designed to equip new officers with the skills and knowledge required for modern policing:

- Search and Seizure
- Report Writing
- Criminal Investigation
- Laws of Evidence
- Domestic Violence
- CT Criminal Law
- Laws of Arrest
- Interview and Interrogation
- Ethics
- Sexual Assault
- Prostitution/Human Trafficking
- Child Abuse

In addition to his structured curriculum, Brian is known for incorporating case studies from his own experience, offering students invaluable insights into the realities of law enforcement. His classes are interactive, with a strong focus on discussion and practical exercises that challenge cadets to think on their feet and develop solutions to complex problems.

Brian's commitment to law enforcement education has had a lasting impact on the hundreds of cadets he has trained, many of whom have gone on to successful careers in policing. Through his work, he continues to shape the next generation of officers, instilling in them the values of professionalism, accountability, and service to the community.
