

VERGIL LAURENTE CORSO

Vergil is an experienced oil spill response team leader responsible for conducting training at the Dubai Police General Department of Transport and Rescue - Marine Pollution Control Centre, specializing in maritime safety and oil spill response preparedness. With over 15 years of experience in maritime education and training, he has a profound understanding of the complexities of maritime operations and environmental protection. As an instructor, Vergil is passionately dedicated to enhancing the skills of both new and experienced personnel at Dubai Police - Marine Pollution Control Centre, emphasizing the importance of preparedness and teamwork through specialized training programs, including IMO OPRC, STCW Basic Safety Training, and Seamanship and Navigation Courses. These courses focus on international regulations, safety measures, vessel operations, and navigation, ensuring that officers and civilian employees are well - equipped for marine emergencies. Vergil's hands-on teaching approach, which includes simulations and Oil Spill Response Tabletop Exercises, encourages collaboration, communication, leadership, and community engagement. His commitment to training excellence fosters a culture of safety, preparing law enforcement personnel to handle oil spill challenges efficiently. He asserts that effective oil spill response necessitates a unified effort among various agencies and stakeholders within the Dubai Police - Marine Pollution Control Centre.