Jeff Johnsgaard

Law Enforcement Instructor

Jeff Johnsgaard, a retired police detective sergeant, dedicated over 20 years to diverse roles in law enforcement, including patrol supervision, investigative work, and specialized teams. With a passion for training, he designed and implemented programs for both academy cadets and experienced officers.

Jeff has a high degree of personal skillset in use of force and decision-making. Jeff combines his skills and his love of learning with over a decade of deep diving into the research on how to train officers even better.

Jeff is an industry leader in communicating those research grounded principles and concepts to officers and to instructors in hands-on trainings.

Jeff now trains full-time under his company, Training On Purpose, By Design.

Jeff is also a contract instructor, teaching for Force Science®, The Reality Based Training Association, Raptor Protective Services and others.

Jeff masterfully shows you how you can apply the scientifically grounded concepts for making learning far more impactful. how to apply the principles of more optimal training to academies and inservice trainings, from recruit level to Tier One Military units.

Jeff's contact: Jeff@OnPurpose.Training

Jeff's website: https://OnPurpose.Training

Jeff's brief CV: https://www.onpurpose.training/_files/ugd/ddfae5_0f6069b068da459bad65b62c0bd4520c.pdf